KIVETT STORE IN RECEIVERS HANDS

MANAGEMENT OF GENERAL STORE IN MARTINSVILLE, RECENTLY PURCHASED BY ERNEST KIVETT, OF MILL CREEK TOWNSHIP, IS IN FINANCIAL TROUBLES.

WILL CONTINUE BUSINESS

On petition of the Martinsville Milling Company, a creditor, William H. Payne, was appointed receiver for the Simms Company this morning. The petition asking for the appointment alleged that the company was insolvent.

Mr. Payne was instructed to continue the grocery and meat market in operation, but to close the dry goods department, and the latter will be closed at least during the time an invoice of the stock is being taken.

The assets are estimated to be about $15,000. The exact amount of the liabilities has not been ascertained, but they are supposed to equal or exceed the assets.

E. C. Kivett, of Putnam county, recently purchased the business of the Simms company, and has been in charge for the past few months. When seen this morning Mr. Kivett had no statement to make concerning the matter.

The Simms company purchased the business several years ago from Messrs. W. H. Payne and James Clarkson, who established the business and conducted it most successfully up to the time they sold to the Simms company.

The citizens of Martinsville and community will regret to hear of the trouble and will hope that all financial difficulties may be speedily adjusted.—Martinsville Reporter.

Ernest Kivett is ex-trustee of Mill Creek township, and formerly conducted a store at Broadpark. Beside the interest in his Broadpark store, Mr. Kivett was extensively engaged in the farming business. The deal by which he took over the business of the Simms Co., at Martinsville, was closed shortly before the first of the year and reports from Martinsville were that he was doing nicely with the business until last Tuesday. On that day Mr. Kivett came to Greencastle and to business friends here admitted that he was in financial troubles. It is understood that the store was under a $15,000 indebtedness when Mr. Kivett took it over. It is said that one creditor of the store insisted on a settlement of the claim against it and when Mr. Kivett was unable to meet the obligation a receiver was asked by the creditor. It is believed that the store will pay out in full and that the trouble of the store will be straightened out satisfactorily to all concerned.

ENTERTAINS WITH DINNER PARTY AT SORORITY HOUSE

Miss Clara Dilts, a student of the university, delightfully entertained Wednesday evening with a dinner party at the Alpha Omicron Pi house at the corner of Walnut street and College avenue. Twenty guests enjoyed the evening. The table was prettily decorated with a huge bouquet of red roses, the Alpha O sorority flower. Red roses were given as favors. After the dinner party the young people were guests at a theatre party at the Lyric.

Those guests of the evening were: Irene Miller, Olive Brain, Florence Foster, Florence Hughes, Beatrice Woodward, Georgie Gilkey, Edna McClure, Eugenia Pickett and Grace Robertson and Roland S. O'Neill of Indiana, son of Lieutenant Governor O'Neill, Henry Rowan, LeRoy McLeod, Harry Hughes, Ray Harris, Clifford Allen, Homer DeLap, Robert Woodruff, Paul Brill and Omer Ford.

DePAUW COMMITTEE OPENS BIDS ON NEW GYMNASIUM

Contracts, Four in Number, Will Be Awarded at a Meeting Later in Week.

Bids for the construction of the proposed $100,000 gymnasium to be erected on the campus of DePauw University, Greencastle, Ind., were opened in Indianapolis Tuesday, but a contract was not awarded. The chairman of the committee is Charles H. Barnaby of Greencastle and he and the other members spent the entire afternoon going through the bids.

There will be four distinct jobs, one on the building itself, another on the heating and ventilating, a third on the plumbing and the fourth on the electrical and wiring. There were sixteen bids on the building itself and a correspondingly large number on the other jobs.

Announcement was made after the meeting that the committee would get together later in the week, at which time the contracts will be let.

C.C. MATSON HAS ARM AMPUTATED

FORMER GREENCASTLE CITIZEN AND PROMINENT STATE POLITICIAN SUBMITS TO OPERATION IN THE GERMAN HOSPITAL IN CHICAGO TUESDAY NIGHT—RIGHT ARM OFF BELOW ELBOW.

OPERATION IS SUCCESSFUL

CHICAGO, Feb. 24.—Courtland Cushing Matson, formerly of Greencastle, Ind., for four consecutive terms a representative in Congress and once a candidate for the gubernatorial chair of Indiana, is at the German Hospital here, recovering from an operation last night, by which his right arm, below the elbow, was amputated. The operation is announced as having been successful.

Col. Matson, who left Greencastle to go to Chicago to make his home with his daughter, Mrs. Charles Walter Brown, last fall, had been troubled with what he at first believed to be rheumatism in his right wrist for many months. Treatment failed to give him relief and after reaching Chicago specialists diagnosed his trouble as tuberculosis of the wrist.

Only a few intimate friends of Col. Matson were told of the true condition but more than a month ago he informed a few close friends that he would undergo an operation in an attempt to gain relief.

DR. T. A. SIGLER IN MOVING PICTURES ON LOCAL SCREEN

Dr. T. A. Sigler of this city, assistant state veterinarian, who has for the past few months served as a Government appraiser of the stock that has been killed during the fight against the foot and mouth disease in this state, will appear in motion pictures on a local screen March 3 and 4. The pictures show Dr. Sigler and the "killing gangs" at work in an effort to stamp out the stock malady.

The pictures were taken in the north part of the state where many cases of the disease developed and show the cattle before and after killing. Dr. Sigler aided in practically all the work in Indiana and was located at Lines, Mich., for several weeks.

Clarence Johnson, the producer of the pictures probably will come here the first of next week in an attempt to secure pictures of the university and the leading business concerns of the city. After the films of the local scenes are taken the films will be brought back here to be shown on the screen. The picture man is anxious to secure scenes of college activities while here.

BRAZIL POLICE WANTED BOYER

TERRE HAUTE MAN KILLED BY VANDALIA TRAIN HERE, WAS WANTED ON CHARGE OF BEING A CHICKEN THIEF—HAD ABANDONED WAGON AND TEAM IN ORDER TO ESCAPE.

HE WORKED IN DAYLIGHT

According to local officers, David Boyer, who was killed by a Vandalia freight train at Greencastle Tuesday when he attempted to board the train, was the man the officers have been looking for for a long time on the charge of chicken stealing.

Several months ago Sheriff Garrigus received a call from Ashboro that chicken thieves were at work there in board day light, loading up their wagon with stolen chickens. Deputy Sheriff Anderson made the run on his motorcycle but before he arrived at Ashboro some of the people decided to capture the chicken thief on their own hook, but the thief succeeded in making his escape, abandoning his wagon and team of horses.

The officer took possession of the wagon and horses and brought them to this city, one of the horses dying and the other horse and the wagon was sold. The ownership of the horses and wagon was finally traced and David Boyer is said to have been the man who escaped and abandoned the team and wagon. This was corroborated by relatives of Boyer in this city.

Boyer is said to have been on his way to this city when the accident happened that day which resulted in his death. For some reason Boyer did not attempt to come to Brazil direct. He went to Greencastle on the Big Four and was attempting to jump a Vandalia freight to come to this city when he was killed. Officers believe that he took this round about way to come to Brazil by reason of the fact that his relatives live in the extreme eastern part of the city and to escape the risk of being seen by officers, he avoided coming through the city by coming by way of Greencastle.—Brazil News.

SHOULD DECORATE STORES SATURDAY

MEMBERS OF THE BOOSTERS CLUB ASK THAT GREENCASTLE BUSINESS SECTION BE ATTIRED IN GALA COSTUME FOR SATURDAY—FIRST BOOSTER'S DAY IS NEAR.

THE ASSEMBLY ROOM OPEN

In order that Greencastle may present its best front for the Saturday booster crowd, members of the Boosters' Club have asked the merchants to decorate their stores Saturday. Many of the merchants have signified their intentions of arraying their stores in gala attire to welcome the crowd.

The day promises to be a big one here. A band concert, on the court house lawn if the weather will permit, or in the court house if the weather is bad, will be one attraction of the day. The program for the afternoon will begin at 2 o'clock and a large crowd is expected. The assembly room of the court house will be open all day so that in case the weather is bad the people may gather in the court room.

BOYS INTERESTED IN KITE FLYING KITE CONTEST MARCH 27

The manufacture of kites is now the principal occupation of the boys of the manual training classes of the seventh grades in the Greencastle schools at the present time. A kite flying contest on Sunset hill the last Saturday in March has interested the lads and the construction of a "paper bird" that will fly higher and better than any owned by the competitors is the ambition of every boy.

The work in the manual training classes is under the direction of B. K. Knight. The boys will construct their own kites and fly them in the contest. Judges will be selected to decide the winner. The fact that the last Saturday in March is the second Greencastle Booster day may be of advantage in attracting a large crowd to Sunset hill.

Much competition has been aroused between the three ward schools of the city. The boys will also strive to win the honor of turning out the best articles of handicraft for their school, as well win individual honors.

A NEW WELL DRILLING FIRM IS ORGANIZED IN THIS CITY

A new well drilling firm has been organized in Putnam county and will start in business immediately. Albaugh, Burcham & Young, who own the pool room on the east side of the square, have purchased a new Clipper well drilling outfit which will arrive from a factory in Tiffin, O., next Monday.

Experienced men have been engaged to operate the outfit and the drill will be set at the home of Andrew Hirt just west of the city as soon as it arrives. "Cotton" Burcham has had experience in the well drilling business and will care for the business of the new firm.

Mrs. Sarah Bettis, of Clinton Falls, was called to Plainfield on Saturday on account of the illness and death of her brother, Lat T. Gray.

COME to Greencastle Saturday. It's Booster Day.

MAY SHOOT OIL WELL NEXT WEEK

PHIL S. FENN, PROMOTER OF OIL OPERATIONS IN NORTH PUTNAM COUNTY, EXPECTS TO HAVE WELL COMPLETED BY MIDDLE OF NEXT WEEK AND READY FOR THE EXPERTS TO SHOOT—WILL START DRILLING FRIDAY AFTERNOON OR SATURDAY MORNING.

PUTTING IN CASING TODAY

Unless some unforeseen difficulties arise within the next few days the oil well on the James Miller farm near Bainbridge will be "shot" the middle of next week. Phil S. Fenn, manager of the oil operations in north Putnam county, stated today that the work drilling the well would be rushed through as quickly as possible.

The casing for the well has arrived here from an Ohio concern and the oil men put a portion of the shipment in the well today. It is probable that the remainder of the well will be cased Friday morning. As soon as the casing is placed in the well, drilling operations will be resumed. The well should be finished in a few days according to the opinion of Mr. Fenn.

The "shoot" promises to attract many people from the city and surrounding vicinity and it is probable that hundreds of spectators will see the well completed. The nitro-glycerine, a high power explosive, which is used to shoot the wells, will be hauled here overland from the Sullivan oil field in a motor truck. It will be brought to the Putnam field the day before the well is shot. Mr. Fenn has invited the public to see the well shot and indications are that an enormous crowd will see this work done.

YOUR FRECKLES

Need Attention in February and March or Face May Stay Covered.

Now is the time to take special care of the complexion if you wish to look well the rest of the year. The February and March winds have a strong tendency to bring out freckles that may stay all summer unless removed. Now is the time to use ointment—double strength.

This prescription for the removal of freckles was written by a prominent physician and is usually so successful that it is sold by druggists under guarantee to refund the money if it fails. Get an ounce of ointment—double strength, and even a few applications should show a wonderful improvement, some of the smaller freckles even vanishing entirely.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP.

(By Lew Ellingham.)

INDIANAPOLIS, Ind., Feb. 25.

There is an uncertain period in the life of every general assembly. It is the time when even men get tired of each other, tired of hearing of the aches and pains of their associates, tired and bored to death with the tale of the legislator with a lobby, tired of the statesmen who see nothing but party ruin no matter what legislative action is asked, tired of himself and in fact tired of life. This period comes in every legislature, and the season is in full bloom in sixty-ninth general assembly of the state of Indiana. It will all be over within the next day or two, and then business will flourish at the old stand, every one will be happy and proud of a successful record and life will be worth living again. Just now the aid is charged and surcharged with denunciation, and it would be an impossibility to get any place with any sort of a proposition. The legislation that seems the most contentious is the Indianapolis finance bill, woman's suffrage and a primary law. The house caucus which sat behind closed doors for three and a half hours on Monday evening failed to agree upon any of the big issues before them, aside from puncturing the railroad fare bill, and the fate of this bill is not promising from the viewpoint of the railroads. The legislative experts who delight in figuring out the tangles see many rays of hope ahead and predict that the finance bill which affects the city of Indianapolis will receive the sanction of the house. This would mean that the bill would be handed down to the Governor for his signature. These same experts predict defeat for partial woman's suffrage, notwithstanding the fact that the bill passed the senate with only three votes against it. Before this is being read, legislative action may have cleared the atmosphere. A resolution has already passed the house eliminating from their deliberation any bill that comes to them with a divided or minority report. This is taken as the death blow to the suffrage bill, because when that bill arrives it will have all sorts of divided reports. According to this resolution it can not be considered, unless a motion would prevail favoring a reconsideration of the resolution mentioned. Such a reconsideration is among the rare possibilities of the session, so the finish of the suffrage question is apparent.

The big bill in the senate is the Jones primary. Another primary bill has been introduced and the word has gone out that the latter bill is to receive the sanction and support of most of the members in both the house and senate. This is the bill that makes every county in the state nominate their candidates by primary. Members of congress, the legislature, delegates to the national convention, delegates to the state convention, delegates to the party committees both for the state and county have to run the primary gauntlet. Candidates for state office only are nominated by convention, the delegates being elected at this primary. How Mr. Jones will take to this kind of a primary is not known but it is safe to bet that he kicks and here may be kickers enough among the house majority to combine with the minority Republicans to defeat such a bill. In this event, the good old state of Indiana will have to worry along for two years without a primary. The Washington end of the primary game has been working overtime for the last day or two. Senate Floor Leader Van Nuys has received quite a number of telegrams dated at Washington, D. C., in which fatherly advice has been freely given in behalf of a primary and the salvation of the good old ship. The effects of these messages have not as yet become apparent. Not a member of the senate has pulled his coat and offered to lick a fellow senator, even though that senator was not rantankerous for a state wide compulsory primary. While the telegraphic wires sizzled with red hot interrogation points, the senate members remained cool and calm. But nevertheless, the fate of Mr. Jones and his primary is one of the leading questions of the present session, and the people now await the verdict to be rendered by the upper house of the Indiana general assembly.

David J. Swartz, a Bull Moose of Adams county, is just now posing in the Indianapolis newspapers as a die-in-the-wool Democrat. He voted that ticket once at a primary at which he undertook to be the nominee for representative, but before and since he has always taken delight in stabbing the Democrats under the fifth rib. The Indianapolis News can dig up more phoney Democrats in the state than can any other newspaper in the world. Mr. Swartz is now enjoying a season in the headlines in which he is supposed to represent a million or more Adams county democrats in opposition to the Bell finance bill. This is a cheap way to lobby without registering with the secretary of state.

The Best Cough Medicine.

"We have been using Chamberlain's Cough Remedy for the past month and consider it an indispensable. Its effect is almost instantaneous, and there is no use talking, it is a dead shot on a cough or a cold. We do not say this for pay but because we consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best made, and want the people to know it and use it."—Columbus Safeguard, Columbus Junction, Iowa. The above editorial appeared in the Columbus Safeguard almost forty years ago. At that time the sale and use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy was confined to a few counties in Iowa. It now enjoys a world wide reputation and many thousands have testified to its excellence. For sale by all dealers.

Professor—"I am a professor of the science of—"

"Yes, I know; you fix up memories."

"In common parlance, yes."

"That's what I heard. Well, I want my memory doctor."

"That is easily done. All you have to do is to adopt my system and in a little while you will get so that you can remember anything at all."

Strictly Feminine

Bessie was sitting on the hotel veranda one afternoon when another child audibly dressed, began to parade up and down before her, flitting her fan and swishing her skirts airily. Bessie stood it as long as she could, but finally burst out:

"Dresses an' fans does not make ladies."

"But they helps," the other flung back over her shoulder as she sauntered by.

Turned the Tables

On one occasion, when a certain parliamentary candidate, known as a fever speaker and very effective in dealing with a hostile audience, was addressing a meeting in his constituency, he had no sooner risen and said "Gentlemen" than some one threw an egg at him. Quite unperturbed, he turned to the offender and said:

"I was not speaking to you, sir."

Possibilities of the Attic

The attic has an atmosphere that not only rouses in the housekeeper a desire for a clearing up, but also an ambitious wish to make a habitable room out of its mustiness. The one thing that helps most in encouraging the desire for change is the view from its windows, which is always interesting whether of roofs, orchard or park. Then, too, there are often quaint angles and odd corners that no woman with an eye for the picturesque can resist, says a New York Press writer. If the family junk with which the place is littered is too unwieldy to be tucked into nooks and corners in other parts of the house it can be banished to a cellar bin and safely ignored. With attractive windows and uncluttered space, a room shapes itself.

An attic room never goes begging. It is usually the college boy who grabs it for a den or it may be some daughter.

An attic den that is the pride and joy of the boy looks out on to the roofs of opposite houses. On the window sill—and the window hasn't the shred of a shade or curtain—are some potted plants, for, of course, a boy likes plants; he likes all growing things. Over the window from a ring hangs a punching bag. On the wall are a couple of tennis rackets and beside the window is a carpenter's bench fitted completely and neatly with the necessary tools. An ideal place to potter and drill.

A girl's room is charming with dark stained floor, white woodwork and mission furniture. The windows are curtained in muslin with side drops of linen embroidered with raffia in a simple but effective design. A single book shelf fills the corner between the windows and underneath is the couch, its cover embroidered like the curtains and with plenty of pretty cushions. At its head stands a small round table holding a most comfortable looking reading lamp. In the corner opposite the couch is an old model table settee and next to it is a writing desk with a Remsen burner attached to the wall. Beyond the desk is the dressing table with a jolly big paper basket beside it.

Two rooms splendidly interesting in their expression of individual taste are well worth describing. One is simplicity itself, with a fine dignity in the placing of the few pictures and in the long lines of the well filled bookcase that stretches between two windows. It seems just the room to drop into, and, after fussing a bit among the books, to settle down in for a serenely quiet read with no sound but the flutter of a turning page.

The other room is a stimulating contrast. Over the fireplace are books and interestingly effective photographs of people. A window couch has plenty of light. The designs of the wall paper and the rug before the fireplace are full of character.

These are but a few pictures to show into what the attic can be made. In a new house the problem of planning a room is simple, but where the house is an old one, with a genuine family garret, it takes on the attributes of a campaign. Things must be first sorted and either stored or placed to cousin or aunt, who often becomes inspired to do likewise and sends things back in exchange. Great movings of clumsy objects go up stairs and down before the desired result is reached. But the result is worth all the fuss and worry. A certain feeling of having conquered a new problem comes to the worker and in the pride taken in having evolved a room from chaos all efforts are forgotten.

Mock Mince Meat

Chop fine one peck green tomatoes, add one-fourth cup salt, let stand one hour, rinse and drain; cover with cold water and boil one-quarter hour, then add one-third pound suet chopped fine, two pounds sugar, one pound raisins, one-half pound currants, one pint vinegar, one teaspoonful of cloves and cinnamon, one large nutmeg, heat thoroughly. This makes one gallon of delicious mince meat.

Custard Hints

Before using milk for custard, scald it thoroughly and cool it, then use in the usual way. The custard will not become watery. Also add a little salt as it improves the flavor. If the custard is to be put in a pie, mix one teaspoonful of flour with the dry sugar before adding the milk and eggs, unless one can use at least four eggs, as the flour will take the place of an egg.—Los Angeles Express.

To flower pansies in the house, sow the seed in shallow boxes of sandy soil. When they are rooted, transplant them to window boxes or separate pots. Keep them quite warm, giving them abundance of water and a great deal of sun.

Patent leather shoes may be kept in good condition during the cold weather by rubbing them with a piece of cotton tannin. This will keep the leather from cracking and the shoes will always appear new.

If your kitchen is small and crowded take out the kitchen table and have a single shelf made. A shelf answers every purpose of a table and can be put down out of the way when not in use.

Meat loaf of chopped veal or beef can be made moist by adding four tablespoonfuls of cream before cooking.

You Can't Succeed Through Deceit

If you don't know, say so. It's a sign of strength to acknowledge your weakness. Ignorance is transparent. You can't hide behind it. Own up before you're shown up. False pride is a joke and not a cloak—it disgusts us and it doesn't disguise you. There's no defense for pretense. Shams and counterfeits are rejected the moment they are inspected.

Only sincerity commands respect. Be genuine and we'll be generous. If you're ashamed of what you are, either your occupation is disgraceful or you're a disgrace to your occupation.

There's nothing degrading in any honorable form of labor. We don't look up to those who look down on their means of livelihood.

Poverty isn't a mark of inferiority. Illiteracy is a handicap, but not a disability.

Hardship at the right time and in the right place is an incentive—a whip for resolution.

Need, not luxury; necessity, not security; responsibility, not ease, are spurs to speed men and women to the fore.

Greatness is a growth which oftenest takes root in obscurity. Four presidents of the United States began their careers respectively and respectably as tailor, rail-splitter, canal-boy and grocery clerk. When determination surveys a course, the striking point doesn't count.

It isn't the type of the task, but the type of the worker that establishes character. If you're bound for the top, you'll show it all the way from the bottom up.

Your caliber is measured by the methods and models you follow. Snobs and tricksters are neither instructive nor constructive. False standards make false lives. Dollars spoil as well as spell success. Meanness and means often go hand in hand.

If you lack the courage to stand for what you are, you haven't enough stamina to withstand the buffets and blows, the deprivations and the disappointments that line the Long Road.

You may not be responsible for your origin, but you are accountable for your actions.

You can't pursue a crooked path without leaving footprints and, some time in your life, someone is going to trace your course. Go straight and you won't have to turn back.

You can do and be anything provided you don't compromise with honor. Real confidence is certain of itself. It is clean as well as keen—too fine and true a thing to stoop. Ambition flies high and beyond the range of ridicule.

Every distinguished family had a founder at some stage in its history. To achieve with and from nothing is far more illustrious than to fall heir to some ancestor's industry and enterprise. The pathway to more than one throne began at the swineherd's hut.

Alm far—your goal will stay fixed. Keep going and every day will bring you nearer to realization. The longest ladder was built one rung at a time.

Don't look to be encouraged. The rest of us want the best as badly as you do. We're all your competitors—what we give you we don't want for ourselves.

Depend on no outside aid. Conscience is your one safe guide and adviser. Conceit and vanity are your two great enemies.

You can only be checked by others—you can be wrecked only by yourself.

The Piano

A piano is almost as sensitive to heat and cold as an invalid. It should not be placed too near a fire, as the heat draws the wood.

Neither should it be near an open window, as on a wet day the damp is apt to rust the keys and wires, and take the polish off the case.

Always keep the piano closed when it is not in use. The keys should be dusted frequently with an old silk handkerchief, and rubbed occasionally with a cloth moistened with menthylated spirits.

If they get very yellow, rub with a little lemon juice and whiting, and remove it with a damp cloth. But be very careful that none of the dust falls between the keys.

If the case gets clouded and dull-looking, give it a good polish with a very little furniture cream and polish with a chamois leather. In towns it is apt to get smoky. To remove this wipe over with a cloth wrung out of vinegar and water, then polish.

Don't put your piano close to the wall, as it deadens the tone. To keep it in perfect order, it should be tuned about every three months.

And remember that a piano is never heard to best advantage in a room that is overcrowded with furniture and hung with many draperies.

A simple and practical way to prevent draughts entering under a door that has, through shrinkage, a wide crack under it is to fold three thicknesses of paper together just the width of the door and two inches deep and cover it with serge or cloth as near the color of the door as possible.

Sew to this three small brass rings, one a quarter of an inch from each end and one in the middle. Fasten into the bottom of the door three small screwhooks and hand the rings on them. You will have a perfect protection from cold air coming under the door and one that is easily removed and kept dusted.

To test silk frays out the threads and break them. If they snap easily, it is not good. The warp thread running lengthwise should be of equal strength with the wool thread running crosswise.

HEED THE WARNING.

Many Greencastle People Have Done So.

When the kidneys are weak they give unmistakable warnings that should not be ignored. By examining the urine and treating the kidneys upon the first sign of disorder, many days of suffering may be saved. Weak kidneys usually expel a dark, ill-smelling urine, full of "brickdust" sediment and painful in passage. Sluggish kidneys often cause a dull pain in the small of the back, headaches, dizzy spells, tired, languid feelings and frequent rheumatic twinges.

Doan's Kidney Pills are for the kidneys only. There is no better recommended remedy.

Mrs. W. H. Johns, 403 north Indiana street, Greencastle, says: "Several years ago I suffered from sharp twinges through my hips and sides and felt languid. A friend advised me to try Doan's Kidney Pills and I procured a supply. They gave me instant relief and improved my health. Another of my family had great benefit from Doan's Kidney Pills."

Price 50c, at all dealers. Don't simply ask for a kidney remedy—get Doan's Kidney Pills—the same that Mrs. Johns had. Foster-Milburn Co., Props., Buffalo, N. Y.

His Injuries

"The day of rowdiness, of punching and being punched, of white hopes and things like that, is going out," said the girl who had merely dropped in for a call.

"So you have met him, have you?" asked the at home girl.

"Yes, I saw Morgan Brown yesterday. It is the first time I have seen him since I turned him down. He was not quite a ruffian while I permitted him to call."

"Since you turned him down! So you turned him down, did you? He told me something about that."

"Doubtless, then, he told how he acquired the black eye, the puffed lip, the bandaged ear and got his arm in a sling."

"Certainly. I was among those present."

"This cave man sort of thing is picturesque only in fiction. No lady nowadays stands by and watches men beat one another."

"My dear, you are right. However, there was no other man connected with this affair. It occurred night before last, when he was calling. I had baked a cake that day and late in the evening Morgan and I decided that we would make a raid on the eatables and went to the kitchen. I had just pushed the button for the electric lights when I saw a mouse, and of course I screamed. Morgan seized a fly swatter from the kitchen cabinet and made a dash at the mouse and nearly broke his fingers against the leg of the cabinet. Then he raced after the mouse across the kitchen and bumped his eye against the corner of a shelf. He staggered backward and hurt his ear when he collided with the water heater. As if this were not enough, he stooped to look beneath the kitchen table just as I moved a chair, and he struck his mouth on the chair back. Then he saw the mouse going beneath the refrigerator and he dived in pursuit. But the creature went through the floor where the waste pipe leaves the kitchen and escaped."

"Ridiculous!"

"Wasn't it? There was I in a chair, showing silk, and Morgan spraddled out on the floor holding his ear with one hand, a broken fly swatter in the other, while he looked at the hole through which the mouse had disappeared, and said things. I never heard an angry man use such language! But you would never guess what he said as he shook his fist at that waste pipe."

"Very likely. Sometimes the character of a person's upbringing precludes their guessing along certain marks."

"Oh, yes. He shook his fist at the mouse hole and said: 'You darned little rascal! The next time I play tag with you you will know it!'"

"Ah!" said the girl who dropped in for a call.

He Lost Out

"Mrs. Barkley!" Barkley looked severely over the top of his paper at his better half, who was darning a sock. She did not stir an eyelash.

"Woman!" Mrs. Barkley sighed and inserted her darning ball into another sock.

"Molly!" She sat up and took notice.

"Did you speak to me, James?"

"I wished to ask you if you understand anything at all of the principle of refrigeration?"

"I do. I understand all about it. But if you have your heart set upon expounding it go ahead; I'll try to appear interested."

"A refrigerator is for the purpose of keeping meats and vegetables from spoiling. The cold air thrown off by the melting of the ice in a refrigerator circulates downward. Hot air, you know, rises."

"I know; there is a quantity of it rising now."

"And the cold air, settling to the bottom of the refrigerator, takes the place of the warm air which has gone up."

"Oh, dear! Everything is going up nowadays. You'll have to let me have some more money. My allowance is all spent and I have not yet paid the girl."

"For heaven's sake, when I am trying to be pleasant and entertaining, and putting myself on your level—"

"You always were some climber, James."

"The man came with the ice just now, and when I opened the top of the refrigerator for him I found a piece of ice about the size of an egg in the ice chamber."

"There you go! I also found a bottle of milk, three tomatoes, one dish pickles, three cucumbers, six ears of corn, a head of lettuce, a dozen eggs, a pineapple—"

"You are a good provider."

"Half a dozen lemons and some other junk. I have told you time and again that the ice compartment is for ice—ICE—ice! But I have been unable to convince you. I have at last hit upon a plan to compel you to put such things in the compartments that they belong in."

"I defy you! Do your worst!"

"I had the iceman fill every other compartment of the box jam up with ice and leave the ice compartment empty, and I'll bet that tomorrow you will have the garbage where it belongs—"

"And you'll be buying new paper for the room downstairs. If you had any sense you'd know that ice will melt and run all over the house, as I'll bet it is doing right now! Just for that you shan't go to that card party tonight!"

"What card—"

"I heard you tell Jinx over the phone that you would engineer a quarrel with me and then flounce out of the house. I refuse to quarrel with me."

WHITE LEGHORNS VERY POPULAR

Small Birds are Hard to Breed to Standard but They are Profitable Fowls.

There is no let-up in the popularity of the White Leghorn, and there will not be. The White Leghorn is popular because it deserves to be popular. It is beautiful, and it is as useful as it is beautiful.

White Leghorns outnumber all other varieties combined on the large egg farms of the country, though a few other varieties are doubtless as good layers.

There has been a great development in the Leghorns, especially in the White Leghorns, within the past few years. The old idea of the Leghorn was that it looked more "stylish" if its tail stood straight up. Now such a bird has no chance whatever of winning at a poultry show. Long backs and low tails are the fashion, and surely they are more beautiful than the previous styles.

There isn't anything more beautiful in poultry than a White Leghorn, male or female, with a fine five-point comb, full well rounded breast, long back, sloping slightly downward, with the tail large, well spread and carried quite low, the bird set upon a pair of good strong legs of good length. The color is as beautiful as the shape. The plumage is of course snow white in the ideal bird, and a bird with creaminess or brassiness in plumage has little chance of winning. The red of the comb and wattles and the white of the wattles are features of the beauty of this variety, as well as the yellow legs and toes.

The comb is an important section in the Leghorn. On account of its size, which is quite large, a Leghorn comb which approaches perfection is quite rare, so that a cut in a showroom of one point on comb is a light cut. If a Leghorn has a poor comb it can scarcely expect to win in strong competition. According to the Standard, the value of the comb is one-tenth of the whole bird.

Bright yellow legs are most desirable, but not easy to obtain, especially in combination with snow-white plumage. The coloring matter that makes the legs yellow is likely to put creaminess into the plumage, while lack of creaminess in the plumage may mean paleness of legs. The white plumage and the yellow legs are rather contradictory characteristics, but we want this combination.

In other words, while it is not so difficult to breed White Leghorns true to color as in the case of barred rocks, still there are plenty of difficult problems, and a bird that combines excellencies in all the points named above is not often seen in this variety.

Leghorns are kept chiefly for laying purposes. Eggs are the foundation of the poultry business, and the production of eggs is the most profitable branch of poultry keeping.

But Leghorns are not the inferior table fowls many suppose them to be, especially when young. They are not large, but

CERTAINLY, MARCH WILL BE A STORMY MONTH

Naturally you expect March to be a stormy month and the forecast of the Rev. Irl Hicks bears out the prediction.

The first regular storm period is central on the 2d, coming over from the closing days of February, and extending to March 5th.

The first reactionary storm period will be central on the 7th, 8th and 9th. On and touching these reactionary storm days, look for every active storms of wind and rain, and much colder, clearing weather.

The second regular storm period will be central on the 14th, extending from the 12th to the 17th.

The indications are that very severe storms will pass generally over the country on and touching Saturday, Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, the 13th, 14th, 15th and 16th.

The second reactionary storm period falls central on the 19th, 20th and 21st. This period is at the culmination of the earth's vernal equinox which fact calls for uncertain, if not continued stormy weather through much of this part of March, even outside of the storm periods.

The third regular storm period is nearly coincident with the center of the vernal equinox. It is central on the 25th, and extends from the 23d to the 29th. Normally, the 24th, 25th, 26th and 27th, are the central days of storm and danger, and it will be wise and prudent to keep an eye on your barometer, and all other indications of possible disturbances, on and next to these dates. These disturbances, will culminate in cold March rains, with very probable spurts of snow—change to much colder, with the rising barometer which is certain to bring up the rear of storm areas on the west.

Unsettled and threatening weather conditions will probably be prolonged into the reactionary period beginning on the last day of March.

BISHOP QUAYLE SPEAKER AT COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

William A. Quayle, of Minneapolis, a bishop of the Methodist Episcopal church, will be the speaker at the seventy-sixth commencement exercises at DePauw university, to be held on June 9. The announcement of the acceptance of Bishop Quayle to deliver the address was received today by Ford C. Frick, chairman of the commencement speaker committee.

Bishop Quayle is by no means a stranger to DePauw and Greencastle audiences. He has appeared here often and is considered by local people as one of the strongest speakers on the Methodist Board of Bishops. The senior class at the university is highly elated over its success in obtaining the services of Bishop Quayle for the coming occasion.

Other committees of the senior class are completing arrangements for the different exercises to be held commencement week. Owing to the limited seating capacity of Meharry hall for such occasions, it is probable that a tent may be erected on the campus for the exercises. The committee named to investigate the advisability of this innovation is expected to make a report of its finding soon. The main opposition to the plan is based on the desire of many members of the class to be the last ones to be graduated from the Meharry hall platform. Members of next year's class will receive their diplomas in the new gymnasium auditorium.

R. L. SHATTUCK ARRAIGNED TODAY

REV. KIRK WALDO ROBBINS MAY LEAVE LEBANON CHURCH

The Rev. Kirk Waldo Robbins has received a call to the pastorate of Centenary Methodist church at Terre Haute to fill the vacancy occasioned by the resignation of the Rev. E. W. Maff. That fact became public today, although members of the Lebanon church have known of it for several days. The Rev. Mr. Robbins visited Terre Haute yesterday to investigate the situation there before making a decision in the matter.

Dr. Leazenby, district superintendent, was here from Crawfordsville today, conferring with members of the local church. Dr. Leazenby confirmed the report of the call issued to the Rev. Robbins by the Terre Haute church. He stated, however, that the interests of the local church would receive careful consideration and that nothing would be done unless arrangement satisfactory to the Lebanon congregation were made.

The Rev. Mr. Robbins, it was stated this morning, had not indicated his acceptance of the Terre Haute call and until he does so the district superintendent can make no recommendations to the bishop, who has the sole authority to make appointments on changes in pastorates.

The Rev. Mr. Robbins has been pastor of Centenary M. E. church here for two years and a half, coming here from Greencastle where he had charge of the College Avenue church. He has been very successful in his labors here and the church is in better condition now in all respects than ever before in its history. He is an exceedingly hard worker of the kind that gets results that count. His host of friends in and out of the Methodist church here would regret his departure.—Lebanon Daily Reporter.

Obituary.

Jonathan Owens, son of Stephen and Hannah Owens, was born Nov. 26, 1838, and died Feb. 12, 1915. He was married to Julia F. Owens December 31, 1861, who preceded him in death only six short months. To this union was born ten children, six sons and four daughters of which only one son survives—Erasmus, of Hendricks county. He, with three sisters, Hannah Ader of this county, Nancy Wilson and Bethenia Wilson of Illinois, and one brother, Stephen Owens of Advance, together with eleven grandchildren, are left to mourn their loss. He united with the Regular Baptist church at Palestine in 1860 and was baptized by Elder J. B. Hanna. He remained a faithful member of the church for fifty-five years and has ever been faithful in attending meetings and always willing to bear his share of the cares and crosses. He served the church as clerk since Oct. 12, 1905. His last illness was of a short duration, being ill only twelve days with pneumonia fever, and his suffering at times was intense. During his illness he often spoke of his companion and children that have gone before and of the one left behind. He expressed a desire to die and be at rest and said he was leaning on Jesus and felt that Jesus had forgiven his sins which were many. Let us trust in the same God that was so near and dear to Uncle Jonathan in his last days. As the time drew near for his release from suffering he spoke of the outer man growing weaker while the inner grows stronger day by day. His dying bed was soft as downy pillows.

The funeral was preached at Palestine by Elder J. H. Oliphant after which the remains were laid to rest in Palestine cemetery.

CHADD DIVORCE SUIT IS TRIED IN CIRCUIT COURT.

The trial of the divorce suit of Otto Chadd of Fox Ridge against his wife, Nancy May Chadd, was tried in the Putnam Circuit court this afternoon. Chadd asked for a divorce on the grounds of cruel and inhuman treatment. John H. James represented Chadd and William M. Sutherland was the attorney for Mrs. Chadd.

Mr. Chadd was granted the divorce. He also asked for the care and custody of the seven children, ranging in ages from eighteen months to seventeen years old, but a disposition of the children will be made Friday. Mrs. Chadd, while on the witness stand, testified that she had left the children at home at night on many occasions without anyone to care for them. On one occasion she admitted that she had gone to Terre Haute without the husband's or children's knowledge and arrived home at 2 o'clock. She also stated that she spent much money attending picture shows, that she earned washing for other people.
